Dear PS1 Students,

Greetings! Welcome to Political Science 1. This is an exciting time to learn about American government and politics with the 2008 Presidential Election around the corner.

Please allow me to tell you a little about myself. Don't let the long last name frighten you. Try to pronounce it like "CHEWn-LA-MOON-TREE." That was simple, right? I was born in Laos (bust out a world map now). As a result of the aftermath of the Viet-Nam War, my family came to the US in 1981. I grew up in Southern California cheering for the Angels and Clippers. I became fascinated with Political Science at UCLA and have been hooked ever since. I am now in the process of finishing my Ph.D. at USC.

I hope to share some of my excitement for the political process with you. I truly want you to do well in the class and to develop an appreciation and an understanding of politics, and I truly committed to helping you. Here are some pointers to doing well in the class: Communicate, Participate, Persevere, and Volunteer. This could be our official PS1 Cheer!

- 1) Communicate with me. The best way is to email me directly from your regular email account to chounlam@usc.edu I usually check it twice a day on the weekdays. Always enclose your message with your full name, email address and phone number (sometimes it is easier to talk). Call me during office hours. Please follow up just in case your correspondence if it should be inadvertently overlooked. Please give feedback to improving the class and help you or just chat. Instructors generally have a wealth of information to share.
- 2) Participate in class and video discussions online. Keep the information from class fresh and try to apply concepts and theories to your lives.
- 3) Persevere and be patient with the materials and the ETUDES-NG. The class is about you and how you learn! I will try my best to adapt my teaching to your learning styles, but it requires your inputs. The students who finished the course appreciate the method. They will be happy to talk to you about the course.
- 4) Volunteer in the community and get involved—students can earn up to one whole grade improvement for the course. We'll discuss other ways of improving your grades in class.

Here is a way of saving some $$$ money by purchasing earlier editions of the required books.

Students have saved a lot of money by purchasing previous editions of the textbooks. Students have found them online for much less than the newest editions. NOTE: Please do not purchase any older version of Patterson WE THE PEOPLE than the 5th Edition and the Field CALIFORNIA 10th Edition.

I look forward to meeting you.

Cheers,

Som Chounlamounry, MA
